Wexford Health Sources launches new website

Pittsburgh, Penna. (August 24, 2010) — Wexford Health Sources Inc. recently launched its new state-of-the-art website providing information on the company’s technologically advanced health care services. The website features five areas of excellence that have helped Wexford Health to become the country’s leading innovative correctional health care provider. The revamped site is strategically organized to clearly and concisely explain Wexford Health’s products and services to a variety of audiences.

“It’s important that we communicate effectively with each of our unique audiences,” said President and CEO Mark Hale. “The new website allows us to reach corrections professionals, elected officials, and potential employees.”

Over the past two decades, Wexford Health has successfully managed health care programs for more than 260 correctional facilities and other types of institutions across the country, including prisons, jails, juvenile detention centers, substance abuse facilities, mental health units, and sex offender treatment centers. The new website provides details on the company’s wide range of clinical and administrative services.

Wexford Health currently employs more than 1,500 health care professionals and continually seeks potential employees capable of upholding the company’s high standards of quality care. Interested candidates can visit the website to find information on job opportunities and the numerous benefits enjoyed by Wexford Health employees.
